We are not held back by the love we didn't receive in the past, but by the love we're not extending in the present. – Marianne Williamson

There are two types of relationships – one that is created out of fear and one that is love-based, shared by self-empowered equals. There is sex and there is sacred sexuality – one is a physical function and the other is a vehicle for transcendence.

For the past few thousand years until now, most of humanity has lived in a 3rd dimensional state of being. This limited reality has been based on separation, materialism and external control. Relationships were created from learned patterns of manipulation, neediness, deceit, abuse, lack of honor and disempowerment.

Now as we evolve into higher dimensional realms, the old patterns and belief systems that no longer serve us are breaking apart. We have the freedom to redefine our reality and choose a more conscious way to live happier and more wholly within our own being and with each other. We can create loving relationships that honor our interconnectedness, not our dependence on one another...relationships that are created from our own intentional choice...not out of need or obligation.

This is a new frontier, and as human beings living in this time now, we are “the people of the time in-between” - moving through uncharted territory to a higher frequency state of being, from the solar plexus (seat of power) to the heart chakra (place of unconditional love). It is with our own loving intent and conscious action that we will set a new foundation - a new dream for the earth which is to come, which the ancients call the Sixth or New Sun. Join Cynthia in an enlightening and fun filled day of exploring new, effective & loving ways of relating!

- We will learn simple but effective techniques of Identifying qualities of the two types of relationships
- The Art of Conscious Communication – speaking our truth with others clearly and effectively...relating from the heart.
- The revival of Sacred Sexuality...Tantric communication and exercises in restoring harmony and balance
